DOCTOR's CAFÉ #32(ENG)

Doctor's Cafe is a place for inviting a diverse range of guests, including researchers, entrepreneurs, investors, and more, from various fields, both within and outside the campus, to engage in open discussions and cross-disciplinary networking. It welcomes anyone, not limited to doctoral candidates, who aims for interdisciplinary research, seeks new perspectives in their research, strives for the next level of development in their research, or wishes to expand their professional network. We encourage everyone to feel free to join us !

Why Challenge? ~Driving Science Forward

Why Innovation? in BX-GX ~

Why challenge? Why innovate? This seminar invites you to explore how the BX-GX initiatives are advancing science by bridging ecosystems, engineering, and sustainability. Featuring two professors, the event will highlight cutting-edge studies in tropical soil and agricultural sciences and discuss how interdisciplinary research is shaping a more resilient future. From the science of soil carbon stabilization to personal stories of global research and career development, this seminar offers both scientific insight and human inspiration.
